Porshia Garcia
Deputy Director, Development Services Department
City of Fort Lauderdale

Mrs. Porshia Garcia, MPA, is an executive public administrator and proud United States Army veteran. As a paralegal specialist in the Judge Advocate General's Corps (JAG), Porshia provided legal support internationally and domestically to attorneys and battalion command staff from 2008 to 2014.

In March of 2014, Porshia began her career in public service as an administrative aide in the City of Fort Lauderdale's Community Enhancement and Compliance Division. Porshia's hard work, passion for public service, relationship fostering, and solutions-driven approach has earned her much success as a public administrator. In 2016, she was promoted to administrative services supervisor for Community Enhancement and in 2017, Porshia became the division manager for Community Enhancement. Porshia's ability to develop and implement a strategic code enforcement program, rally other departments and external agencies for neighborhood enhancement projects, and foster a positive work culture within her division have earned her a reputation for excellence and made her a go-to for many organizations seeking advice on their code enforcement programs.

In March 2021, the City of Fort Lauderdale's City Manager appointed Porshia to serve as an assistant director for the Development Services Department. In 2022, Porshia was promoted to Deputy Director for Development Services, and she promoted a new code compliance manager. She oversees operations and activities of the Community Enhancement & Compliance Division, Business Tax, Building Construction Enforcement, Property Records, Permit Intake (and electronic permitting), Call Center Operations, and the administration of Enterprise Permitting and License Software (Accela Civic Platform).

Porshia has an associate degree in criminal justice, bachelors in psychology, liberal studies, and journalism, and master's degree from Florida International University (FIU) in Public Administration. Porshia has a graduate certificate from FIU in Nonprofit and Community Development and certified in four levels of code enforcement through the Florida Association of Code Enforcement (FACE). She is also a certified trainer for FACE. Porshia volunteers with Take Stock in Children to mentor a high school junior at Fort Lauderdale High School (her alma mater) and she is a Broward County School Board volunteer. Porshia is a proud graduate of Leadership Broward (Class XL). She is also a proud member of the National Forum for Black Public Administrators (NFBPA), Florida Association of Code Enforcement, American Association of Code Enforcement, and International City County Management Association.

Dr. Ryan Eggleston
City Manager
City of Cooper City

A native of northwestern Pennsylvania near Lake Erie, I am a credentialed International City/County Management Association manager. While on the ICMA International Committee, I served four years as an ICMA liaison for England and Ireland. My master's degree in Public Administration was obtained from Gannon University while my bachelor's degree in History and Political Science (with a minor in Information Technology) was from Syracuse University.

Prior to relocating to Cooper City, Florida, in June of 2023 to be the city manager, I served as a city manager in Morehead City, North Carolina, as well as the Pennsylvania municipalities of South Fayette, Oil City and Greenville. I have over 16 years of executive and financial experience in local government. I have attended the Gettysburg Leadership Institute through ICMA, Leadership ICMA (Class of 2013), and the Senior Executive Institute at the University of Virginia.

Furthermore, my wife Julia, our five children and I reside in Cooper City. Although spending quality time with my family is very important to me, I also enjoy volunteering. My favorite hobbies are boating, reading, coaching youth in basketball and soccer, and traveling in the United States and abroad when possible.

Anthony Fajardo
Assistant City Manager
City of Fort Lauderdale

After completing grad school at Florida Atlantic University, Anthony started his professional career in conservation working for the Army Corps of Engineers, the South Florida Water Management District, the Environmental Protection Agency, and the Florida Department of Environmental Protection on several large-scale projects, including the Comprehensive Everglades Restoration Project (CERP). He then entered the planning field working in the Zoning Department and later the Long-Range Planning Department for Palm Beach County.

Anthony came to work for the City of Fort Lauderdale in 2005 as a Planner II, promoted to Zoning Administrator in 2011, and served as the Director of the Development Services Department from 2016 till 2022 when he was promoted to Assistant City Manager. During his tenure with the City, he has acquired considerable experience working on multiple municipal code amendments covering a wide variety of topics, management and supervision of large city-wide planning projects, historic preservation, code enforcement, has been assigned as a liaison to multiple quasi-judicial boards, served on various city committees and boards, and works directly with multiple outside agencies and internal resources to establish a solution driven approach to resolve issues as they arise.
